

PLATFORM FIGHT DELAYS WORK OF CONVENTION

START DRIVING PILES FOR I. C. BRIDGE MONDAY

New Structure to Rest on Fifteen Concrete Piers

A good sized colony with plenty of activity has sprung up quite suddenly on the south bank of Rock river just west of the Illinois Central bridge where the Bates & Rogers Construction company of Chicago have begun work on the construction of a new steel bridge for the railroad company. The bridge is to be completed and ready for traffic by January 1, 1921, according to a statement given out this morning by A. A. Armstrong, superintendent of construction, who has moved to Dixon and will remain until the work is completed and the equipment moved away.

On Fifteen Piers.
The new bridge will be of steel and will rest on 15 concrete piers and two abutments, supporting a single track. The floor level of the structure will be five feet higher than the old one which has been in use for years and will set about 17 feet west of the one now in use. The preliminary work is now under way, several car loads of equipment, engines, pile drivers, concrete mixers, boilers, pumps and tools being on the ground. Several loads of piling have also been ordered and it is expected that the work of driving a pile bridge across the river will start next week.

To Assemble Steel.
The 15 piers, upon which the bridge will rest will be built of cement which will be hauled direct from the Sandusky Cement plant east of the city to a large cement storage house which is now under construction. The superstructure will be of steel throughout. The steel has been ordered and will probably not be on the ground before the first of November, but, according to Superintendent Armstrong, the work of assembling the parts which will come ready cut and punched, will require but a short time.

Pile-Driving Next Week.
"The worst part of the work will be the construction of the piers," Mr. Armstrong said. "There are some parts of the river where we know we will have little trouble in finding a suitable foundation, but there are others where we do not know how far down we will have to go for this. Judging from the present stage of water, the deepest water we will have to work in is about 11 feet. Piling will be driven to given a temporary bridge to work from. Cofferdams will then be built in the river by driving piling around where the piers are to be constructed. The work of driving the piling and building the piers will start at once and we expect to be engaged at this work by the first of next week. We expect to be able to make sufficient progress with the preliminary work to be pouring concrete in the first forms within two weeks.

Strike Delays Equipment.
"We are experiencing considerable difficulty in getting our tools and equipment on the ground ready for the work on account of the switchman's strike. Several cars are being shipped to Dixon from Chicago and other shipments are consigned to this job from other contracts, but it is almost impossible to secure shipment."

Working Force of 200.
"In a few weeks we expect to have upward of 200 laborers and carpenters working on this contract. This will be another difficulty which may serve to delay progress of the work as labor is scarce. We are now hiring all carpenters and laborers who apply for work and have plenty here for them to do."

The Bates & Rogers company have several buildings constructed on the grounds just west of the present bridge and a large force of men are at work putting up additional buildings, unloading and placing equipment and material. Superintendent Armstrong stated that it would be quite possible that several laborers would have to be brought to Dixon in order to rush the bridge to completion by New Year's day. For their accommodation a barracks will be built on the north side of the river where they will be quartered during their stay here.

In connection with the building of the new steel bridge, the construction company will extend the present stone arch which spans the switch track leading to the Sandusky cement plant. This will be necessary in order to accommodate the track on the new structure. It is quite possible that after the new bridge has been accepted that the railroad company will tear out the old structure which has been in use for a number of years.

MASONS TO INSTALL.
The annual installation of officers of Dixon lodge, No. 7, A. F. & A. M. will be held at the Masonic hall this evening at 7:30. Following the installation, degree work will occupy the remainder of the evening.

AIRPLANE BRINGS PICTURE OF OPENING OF DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION AT SAN FRANCISCO

Airplanes played a prominent part in getting the above pictures of the opening of the Democratic convention at San Francisco on Monday to the Telegraph in time for publication in today's issue, and only because of that service, for which the Newspaper Enterprise Assn., of which this paper is a part, is noted, is its publication hours ahead of Chicago papers possible.

It is the first picture of the convention taken, and airplanes were used to take fast mail trains that left Frisco many hours before.

Long in advance of the convention, N. E. A. had arranged to have the fastest planes in the West at its service.

At noon of June 28, the opening hour of the Democratic convocation, three planes were waiting at the Marina Field, propellers whirling, ready to carry the picture East, North and South out of San Francisco to make the quickest possible connection with mail trains hundred of miles away.

The photo shows the vast concourse of 10,000 delegates and spectators in the new $1,000,000 San Francisco Auditorium immediately after the opening prayer by Right Rev. P. L. Ryan.

J. Bruce Kremer, Asst. National Chairman, is seen in the speaker's rostrum opening the convention, the press in the foreground and the various State delegations on the ground floor. Directly above Kremer is seen the giant amplifier which carried the speaker's voice to every corner of the hall.

Within a few minutes after the photo had been taken, the first print had been delivered by a racing auto to a plane which hopped off for Los Angeles where by special arrangement it was engraved and matted out to papers which could most quickly be reached by that route. This plane was piloted for the Durant Aircraft Corporation of Oakland, Cal., by P. Reed of Los Angeles.

At the same time another print was being engraved in record time at N. E. A. Pacific Bureau and the mats carried to a second plane which piloted by E. E. "Monte" Mouton for Robert G. Fowler, noted aviator, ne-gociated the difficult Sierra mountains to Reno, Nevada, and there placed aboard the Overland Mail which had left San Francisco many hours before. This saved 12 hours in getting the picture away Eastward.

A third set of mats was started up the west coast at the same time, in a fast plane driven by R. G. "Cliff" Durant of the Durant Aircraft Corporation, one of America's most daring and successful aviators, landing at Portland, Oregon, Seattle and Tacoma, Washington.

Platform Committee Worked Late Into Night on Draft

By Associated Press Leased Wire
San Francisco, July 1.—William J. Bryan's prohibition plank, around which today's fight in the platform committee is centering reads as follows:

"We heartily congratulate the Democratic party on its splendid leadership in the submission and ratification of the prohibition amendment to the federal constitution and we pledge the party to the enforcement of the Volstead law, honestly and in good faith, without any increase in the alcoholic content of permitted beverages and without any weakening of any of its provisions."

By Associated Press Leased Wire
San Francisco, July 1.—A plank dealing with the League of Nations was adopted by the Democratic platform committee early this morning. A long bitter fight so delayed the platform workers that the committee recessed until 10 o'clock. Leaders hoped to have the platform ready for the convention this afternoon.

In the treaty battle the administration failed to secure an adoption of its plank without amendment. The committee by a vote of 32 to 13 adopted an addition by Senator Walsh of Massachusetts, among those opposing the administration forces, providing for ratification of the treaty of Versailles with reservations consistent with American obligations.

The substitute planks of William J. Bryan and Senators Pomerene, of Ohio, and Walsh of Montana, were thrown out.

Discussion of the treaty took up most of the session which began at 8 o'clock last night and ended with recess at 3:30 this morning, when the committee were so fatigued that they ceased work without taking up the liquor, Irish or other controverted questions.

Adopted Labor Plank
The committee adopted the labor and several other minor planks, however.

As submitted to the committee the administration treaty plank accord-

FATHER LEARNS OF SON'S DEATH ON HIS ARRIVAL

E. B. McNeal Failed to Get Telegram of Colony Head

E. B. McNeal of Munroe Center, Oglesby county, came to Dixon yesterday and took charge of the body of his son, Clarence McNeal, who passed away at the Dixon state colony on Tuesday evening at 5:30. The father of the young man was not acquainted with the fact that his son had died until he reached the colony grounds. He was accompanying an officer to the institution with a weak minded young man and upon his arrival, patients at the colony who knew him from his previous visits with his son, were the first to notify him of the sad affair.

The body had been removed to the Staples, Moyer & Schumm mortuary where it was prepared for burial, the father taking charge at once. Late last evening it was taken to the home at Munroe Center where burial will take place tomorrow.

Telegram Given Mailman
A telegram had been sent to the parents of the young man Tuesday evening immediately following his death, but the fact that they live some distance from town and a telephone station, was accountable for the fact that the father had not learned of the death of his son until his arrival at the colony. He left home at an early hour yesterday morning to come to Dixon with an officer from Belvidere who was bringing a feeble minded young man to the colony. The telegram was sent to the home by rural mail carrier and Mr. McNeal left home before the mail had been delivered.

FOURTH OF JULY WARNING.

"A Fourth of July without fires or accidents." In Tuesday's issue of this paper, June 29, 1920, appeared a communication from State Fire Marshal John G. Gamber in which communication he calls attention to the dangers existing in fire crackers and fireworks. That the "Proper authorities will enforce ordinances and prosecute reckless individuals, but the prime need is individual carelessness and cooperation, which should be willingly and patriotically given."

The City of Dixon has an ordinance governing the discharge of fireworks within the City of Dixon which will be enforced against persons violating said ordinance. Penalty for violation of said ordinance, not less than $3.00 nor more than $20.00.

TO PLEASE BILL.

Will Court asked most earnestly this morning what he would have to do to get his name in the paper. And since there was no evidence that either he or O'Malley were doing much of anything this little article is printed to gratify the desires of both.

AT HOSPITAL.

Mrs. Benjamin Fox, of Franklin Grove, is at the Dixon hospital for treatment.

Mrs. Milton Noakes is receiving treatment for an abscess in the head.

SYNOPSIS OF TENTATIVE DRAFT OF DEMOCRATIC PARTY PLATFORM

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.

San Francisco, July 1.—The Democratic platform as drafted by the subcommittee of 9 and submitted to the full committee declared for ratification of the peace treaty as requisite to preserve the honor and integrity of the nation; suggests that the Irish question can be brought legitimately before the League of Nations for settlement and is silent on the subject of prohibition.

It advocates collective bargaining for farmers; opposes compulsory arbitration of labor disputes; declares for recognition of the new Mexican government when it has established order and call on the legislators of Tennessee, Florida and North Carolina to ratify the suffrage amendment.

In many respects the platform follows that adopted by the Virginia Democrats and publicly approved by President Wilson. The League of Nations plank in particular was taken as a whole from the Virginia platform though in other respects there have been modifications and many new subjects have been added.

A summary of the sub-committee's draft follows:

PREAMBLE: Sends greeting to President Wilson, commending his achievements in the interest of the country and of the whole world. Commends in general terms the Republican congress.

LEAGUE OF NATIONS: Repeats the Virginia plank with little variation, condemning the action of the senate Republicans in adopting resolutions and the separate peace resolution and advocating ratification of the peace treaty and such membership in the League of Nations as would in no wise impair national integrity or independence.

CONDUCT OF THE WAR: Praises the administration's conduct of the war, commending the patriotic efforts of American citizens to aid the government and praises the military and naval forces with mention of General Pershing by name.

FINANCE: Again incorporates the language of the Virginia Democrats in extolling the federal reserve system and the financing of the war and in condemning the Republicans for extravagance.

TAXATION: Criticizes the Republicans for failing to revise war time schedules and demands a survey of tax conditions by the coming congress. Denies Republican claims of economy declaring that no money was saved except at the expense of the efficiency of government bureaus.

HIGH COST OF LIVING: Blames diminished production for high prices and declares the Republicans are responsible in that they delayed peace and failed to provide the President with necessary legislation.

WAR INVESTIGATIONS: Condemns the Republicans for their use of appropriations in investigating the conduct of the war.

PROFITTEERING: Pledges the party to enactment and enforcement of such legislation as may be required to bring profiteers before the bar of criminal justice.

TARIFF: Reaffirms Democratic tariff doctrines and declares for a research on the subject by a non-partisan commission.

BUDGET: Defends President Wilson's veto of the budget bill and advocates a budget system partially under direction of the secretary of the treasury with consolidated auditing.

POSTAL SERVICE: Commends Democratic administration of the postal service and makes a blanket declaration for higher salaries for postal employees. Advocates greater use of motor vehicles in transportation of mail and extension of the parcel post.

FREE SPEECH: Declares for free speech and a free press except in so far as it may attack the life of the nation.

AGRICULTURE: Praises the Democratic record in establishing farm loan banks and other farm legislation. Endorses collective bargaining and reserves into production cost.

LABOR: Follows the Virginia plank in declaring strikes and lockout should not jeopardize the paramount public interests but adds a statement of opposition to compulsory arbitration. Favors readjustment of salaries or government employees.

SUFFRAGE: Congratulates legislatures that have ratified the suffrage amendment and urges Democratic governors and legislatures of Tennessee, North Carolina and Florida to complete ratification in time for women to vote this fall.

WOMEN IN INDUSTRY: Declares against child labor. Favors legislation for child welfare and maternity care. Advocates increases in teachers' salaries. Urges extension of vocational education, better conditions for working women and reclassification of the civil service with a view to equality of the sexes.

Endorses separate citizenship for married women.

SOLDIER COMPENSATION: Advocates generosity to disabled soldiers but declares against excessive bond issues to pay compensation which would put patriotism on a pecuniary basis.

RAILROADS: Commends federal administration of railroads during the war, declaring it was efficient and economical despite inadequate and worn equipment. Criticizes the recently enacted transportation act and declares congress temporized until so late a date that the President was forced to sign the bill or else throw the railroad situation into chaos.

HIGHWAYS: Favors continuance of federal aid in road building.

INLAND WATERWAYS: Calls Republican plank inadequate and advocates further development of adequate transportation on rivers and further improvement of inland waterways.

Recognizes the importance of connecting the great Lakes with the Mississippi as well as with the St. Lawrence.

FOREIGN TRADE: Favors extension of foreign trade.

MEXICO: Deplores the misfortunes of the Mexican people and upholds President Wilson's Mexican policy, declaring that as a consequence order is reappearing in Mexico. Advocates recognition of new Mexican government when it has proved its ability to maintain order.

IRELAND: Reiterates President Wilson's principle of self determination, expresses sympathy with the aspirations of the Irish people and declares that when the United States becomes a member of the League of Nations it can legitimately bring the Irish problem before the bar of the league.

ALBANIA: Declares it the duty of the American government to aid in the establishment of the order and complete independence for Aramania.

ALASKA: Commends the Democratic administration for railroad construction and coal and oil development. Advocates modification of coal law to facilitate development and also extension of the farm loan act to Alaska.

PHILIPPINES: Declares for Philippine independence without unnecessary delay when the islands are ready for self government.

HAWAII: Advocates a liberal policy toward Hawaii with greater development of the rights and privileges of the middle classes.

CORRUPT PRACTICES: Deplores the pre-convention expenditures of Republican presidential candidates and advocates regulation of such expenditures by federal law.

FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSIONS: Praises the administration of the commission and advocates amplification of its work.

LIVE STOCK MARKETS: Favors legislation for supervision of live stock markets by the federal government.

LITTLE CHANCE OF BALLOTING UNTIL FRIDAY

McAdoo Gets Another Demonstration at Session Today

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Auditorium, San Francisco, July 1.—Galleries filled early in expectation of a showy fight on the platform issue. The delegates came more slowly and at 11 o'clock the hour set for resuming the session, the floor delegates spaces as usual were only partially filled with chatting members. The band, the organ and the singers as usual entertained the crowd while things were waiting to be started up.

Besides the speech placing Ambassador Davis in nomination it was understood that Senator Glass would be placed in nomination by Representative Flood one of the Virginia delegates. So far as the convention officials had been advised early today that ended the list of nominating speeches and the next business would be to take up the platform if the resolutions committee were ready to report. A suspension of the rules would be necessary if the convention were to proceed to balloting for a nominee before it passes on the platform.

Start 20 Minutes Late

At 11:20 o'clock Chairman Robinson called the Democratic National convention to order for its fourth day's session.

Whole sections in the state spaces were still unoccupied in some parts of the hall. The delegates who were present wanted to talk rather than come to order and Senator Robinson had to do some vigorous and continued whacking with the gavel. "Why in the world should it take a man five minutes to sit down?" remarked to some of his assistants.

Police Cleared Aisles
After sending the police through aisles to clean them the chairman got the delegates seated and Bishop Nicholas of the Episcopal diocese of San Francisco offered a prayer concluding by leading the convention in the recitation of the Lord's prayer. Then the organ pealed off the Star Spangled Banner and the convention chorused in the strains of the majestic air.

At the close of the singing, Judge Murasky, of San Francisco took a place at the speakers' stand and recited the Battle Hymn of the Republic while the great organ softly throbbled the melody of the martial air in accompaniment.

The judge recited the first stanza while the organ trembled on its melodious strains, and then coming to the chorus turned his eyes to a far gallery where a clear bell toned soprano rang out with the refrain, beginning softly at first and then joining in the peal of the organ as it burst out into the mighty thunder of "Glory, glory hallelujah." Then the audience joined in the singing and the great auditorium was filled to the very roof with song.

Throughout the rendition of the immortal hymn the convention heard first the soft voiced tones of the men reciting the lines with the soft tremble of the organ. Then the echo from the gallery as the soprano voice joined in and sent back the refrain and then the roaring chorus of the convention. It was impressive rendition which pulled at the heart strings and aroused the fire of patriotism in every heart.

More Nominations
At the conclusion of the singing the secretary of the convention continued the calling of the roll of states for nominating speeches.

New Mexico, first on the call, simply seconded the nomination of William G. McAdoo. It was the signal for a demonstration which started in the galleries and spread to some delegations on the floor but did not last long.

North Carolina sent W. C. Newland of Lenoir to the platform to place in nomination Senator Simmons for whom the North Carolina delegates are instructed.

Conference Fruitless.
Overnight conferences of the forces seeking to effect a combination to defeat the nomination of William G. McAdoo failed to reach any agreement on a candidate and their only accomplishment seemed to be a stiffening of the determination to hold solid if possible a veto block of votes.

As the counter-move to meet the combination against McAdoo administration forces were scouting for a dark horse of their own who could break the combination if it proved effective.

Vice President Marshall had been talked of to head the combination against McAdoo, but Thomas Taggart, head of the Indiana delegation did not attend the conference.

Colby's Name Mentioned.

There was mention of Cummings, who has always been a factor since his keynote speech as temporary chairman and a new name heard was

Day's Program at Convention

San Francisco, July 1.—Today's Democratic convention program: Meets at 11 a. m.

Prayer by Rev. Josiah Sibley, Calvary Presbyterian church, San Francisco.

Resumption of call of states for presentation of presidential candidate. Name of John W. Davis, West Virginia, ambassador to Great Britain, to be presented.

Report of platform committee, if ready, otherwise recess or adjournment.

that of Bainbridge Colby, secretary of state, but there will be no trend toward either of these or any new names introduced until the Palmer or Cox forces or both definitely join the combination which has for its purpose the defeat of McAdoo. No progress was made in the movement to bring Mr. Bryan into the combination and have him place in nomination former Speaker Clark, which was one of the ideas favored during the preliminary conferences.

A factor in the situation was the absence of agreement on prohibition plank of the platform. The position of Mr. Bryan is tightly bound up in that issue. There are some who say if Mr. Bryan should be successful in obtaining the plank he introduced he is the only man who could run on it and these same old line leaders charged that the creation of that situation was a part of the Bryan program.

Line Up Against McAdoo

Frankly admitting that McAdoo seems to have the inside track on the race for the nomination the inner circle of old line Democratic leaders worked through the night devising means to stop his nomination and find a candidate who could command the necessary two-thirds vote.

Champ Clark former speaker of the house of representatives who was denied the nomination at the Baltimore convention after repeatedly having received a majority—something unprecedented in Democratic party history, was being discussed by the old line leaders as a possibility about whom they might rally.

More Cummings Talk

The answer of the McAdoo people to that move was that if an inner circle combination forestalled the nomination of the former secretary of the treasury, there would be disclosed another coalition which would produce a Wilson-backed dark horse who could make enough accessions to win. The name of Homer S. Cummings, chairman of the Democratic national committee dropped out when ever the administration dark horses were being discussed. The name of Vice President Marshall was generally linked with that of Champ Clark when combination candidates to break the McAdoo wave were being discussed among the old liners.

Managers for Cox and Palmer when they figured these candidates in the early days of the campaign demanded to be shown that their candidates were out of the running. Former Representative Carlin, Palmer's chief of staff, refused to concede that the attorney general could not be nominated and E. H. Moore of Youngstown, O., the Cox field marshal, said:

"Grasshopper Convention"

"This may be a grasshopper convention but I haven't been informed as yet that any of the Cox delegates are going to jump."

Nevertheless the report persisted that there was some kind of an understanding between the Cox and Palmer men and that the managers of these candidates favored the nomination of any one rather than McAdoo, and they counted the New York and New Jersey delegations as sympathetic with their view.

While the maneuvering on the candidates was progressing the all-night meeting of the resolutions committee was wrestling with the party platform. The framers hoped by their prolonged session to bring the party's declaration of principles into today's session, dispose of the inevitable fight on the prohibition plank and proceed to the balloting for a nominee.

The convention was all set for a battle royal with Bryan in his old time role as the storm center if he continued to insist in his determination to "force a platform no wet can run on."

McAdoo and Cox?

The discussion of second place with McAdoo continued to emphasize the name of Governor Cox. At Cox headquarters whisperers that the Ohio governor was prepared to accept a second place nomination, were resented. In fact, it was said among Ohio delegates that Cox adherents were more likely to be found allied with Palmer delegates to block a McAdoo drift in the voting.

Another night of maneuvering and bidding for support among campaign managers promises to intervene before the balloting clarifies the situation and sets at rest claims and counter claims on the strength of the candidates.

BAND CONCERT TONIGHT.

The Municipal Band concert at the John Dixon park will commence at 8 o'clock sharp this evening. The program will be played as published in last evening's Telegraph.

TO MATHIAS' STORE.

Roy Bridges, for many years with the Downing Grocery, will accept a position with Lee Mathias Monday.

INDEPENDENTS IN LEAD BY TAKING SECOND CONTEST

The Independents won their second game in the Junior Base Ball League when they took the West End Cubs over to the tune of 22-12. For the first few innings it looked as tho the Cubs would run off with the game easily as the Independents played rather ruggedly but after they got warmed up it wasn't long before they were leaving the Cubs way behind. The 8th inning was a real one for the Independents as they ran up 8 runs in this session on only 2 hits.

Recent dispatches from abroad have described the super-Zeppelin L-71 as being 300 feet longer than the Zeppelins which carried out bombing raids on London, during the war. It was said to have a cruising radius of 12,000 miles with a speed of 100 miles an hour.

Nick's Head Nicked by Battler's Club

Nick Schmidt of this city, when he witnessed two men battling fiercely at Amboy last evening, was mindful of the adage "Blessed is the peacemaker" and he calmly waded in between the belligerents to bring about an armistice. Just as he essayed his heroic role one of the battlers aimed a blow with a heavy bar at his opponent's head. Nick arrived in the nick of time. He got that blow on his own head. A physician took several stitches in the scalp to close the wound, and Nick is today wearing a turban-like bandage.

Subsequently an advance was brot about by reports pointing to an im? pending gallioff in the crop movement. The close was unsettled unchanged to 1c higher.

CHARMING SONG RECITAL—

Miss Seville Crawford, in her song recital of Tuesday evening given at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Wilbur Crawford, 204 E. Third St., delighted her audience with her well placed tones, now soft and sweet, now full. Mrs. E. M. Goodsell, whose pupil Miss Crawford is, played the accompaniments and W. B. Kirby, flutist, of Chicago, assisted in the concert.

Mr. Kirby's number were also a delight. Especial mention should be made of his playing of Chaminade's "Concertino," which was unusually beautiful. The extremely difficult accompaniment was played with ease and given sympathetic treatment by Mrs. Goodsell.

The one hundred guests were met at the door by the Misses Louise Fuller and Loraine Hopper and ushered into the living rooms, gay with roses, where they were received by Mr. and Mrs. Crawford. Little Misses Alice Powell and Frances Campbell took care of the disposal of wraps. The Misses Fuller and Hopper also assisted in the serving of frappe after the program. A basket of beautiful red roses, of which Miss Carline Ellis was the donor, was presented to Miss Crawford at the close of her second group of songs. Miss Crawford wore pink organdie for the recital.

The numbers given by Miss Crawford were: Whisper and I Shall Hear, M. Piccolomini, with Mr. Kirby accompanying. Who Is Sylvia, Schubert; The Robin Sings in the Apple-tree, MacDowell; Irish Love Song, M. R. Lang; The Lass with the Delicate Air, F. A. Arne; Valley of Laughter, Sanderson, and Ave Maria, Gounod, with Mr. Kirby.

Chaminade's Concertino, Bolero by Pessard, and Allegro by Godard were the separate numbers given by Mr. Kirby.

Library Has Exhibit of Original Drawings

The Phidian Art club has placed in the Public Library a collection of thirty pictures loaned by the Curtis Publishing Co. These are the original drawings in oil and chalk, made for the illustrations of the Curtis publications, and are chiefly in black and white and low tones. They are by Koerner, Bracker, Crank, and other well known artists. The collection will be kept at the library about two weeks, and the public is cordially invited to see it.

FOR STATE OFFICERS—

A delightful function of Wednesday evening was the reception given by the Ladies of the G. A. R., Dixon Circle No. 73, in honor of two of their number who were made state officers at the recent Department Convention in Joliet, Mrs. Mae Brookner Cupp, who was made Department President, the highest office possible to be conferred by the state organization, and Mrs. Marie B. Hetler, who occupies the office of State Patriotic Instructor. One hundred guests were in attendance from the different patriotic orders of the city. Among the number were a large number of Comrades of the G. A. R. Post and Sons of Veterans. The guests were received by the president of the local circle, Mrs. W. E. White; Mesdames Petrie, Bremer, Bowers, Schmucker, and Massen, past presidents of the circle, and the two guests of honor, Mrs. Cupp and Mrs. Hetler.

During the evening a program of talks, readings, and music was given. Mrs. White, president of the circle, made some very pleasing remarks and Rev. H. M. Babin, rector of St. Luke's Episcopal church, made an address, patriotic in its nature and congratulatory in its message to Mrs. Cupp and Mrs. Hetler. After Mrs. White's talk the program progressed under the direction of the chairman of the social committee, Mrs. Schwensberg.

Mrs. Hellener, of Chicago, gave a delightful reading, Mrs. Charles a beautiful vocal solo, graciously responding to applause with an encore, and Mrs. Ernest Hetler also rendering a vocal number in her usual charming manner and responding to demands for a second number. Mrs. Charles was accompanied by her daughter, Miss Cornelia, and Miss Heft accompanied Mrs. Hetler.

Mrs. Lewis Petrie, mother of Mrs. Cupp, was called upon for a few remarks, as were also a number of the comrades of the G. A. R. Post and some of the Sons of Veterans.

The hall had never looked prettier than last evening, when flags and flowers in profusion were united in its decoration. Ice cream and cake were served after the program.

The evening, aside from its social pleasures, was one of general rejoicing by the members of the G. A. R. Circle who are proud, with every reason, of having secured two of the state officers, an unusual honor.

BIRTHDAY TEA—

Those members of the Christian Aid society who have their birthdays in the month of June, including Mrs. Edward Netiz, Sr., Mrs. Dave Bovey, Mrs. Robbins, and Mrs. Hazel Emmert, entertained at the home of Mrs. Netiz on Wednesday afternoon with a birthday tea. The other members of the society were guests. Bermuda lilies were used throughout the rooms and roses formed the centerpiece of the table from which ice cream and wafers were served. A very pleasant feature of the afternoon during which the members chatted over their fancy work was the music furnished by Mrs. W. W. Moore, who gave two vocal solos.

SURPRISE SHOWER—

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Shippert, who were married this spring, were given a miscellaneous shower at their home near Nachusa last evening. With them they brought many beautiful gifts, including articles in China, silver, aluminum, linen, and even canned fruit and potatoes, presented with best wishes for a happy married life. The highest price that has been paid for clam shells in this section is being offered for the Rock River product this week. A shell buyer in Grand Detour yesterday paid $70 per ton for shells which are being stored. He expects to buy 100 ton of shell in the vicinity of Grand Detour to be stored until cars can be secured for their shipment to the button factories.

THE ELECTRIC SLAVE

Industry gets out of its steam engines only 15 per cent of their possible power. The rest is wasted because steam power plants are idle an average of 14 hours in every 24, and because several factories each have a steam engine where one engine could generate enough power for all.

This idle power can be harnessed and put to work as an electric slave.
So say four great American engineering societies backing the Murray plan for pooling power in the great eastern manufacturing district. Murray, a power expert, would burn coal at the mine, and in central power plants, putting transportation and manufacturing on an electric basis.

Steam locomotives serving the western section generate, by burning coal, 4,000,000 horsepower more than would be needed to do the same work with electric locomotives. Electrification of industries in this eastern zone would cut their present consumption of coal in two.

Edwin Ludlow, noted engineer, puts it this way:

"The railroads now burn 28 per cent of the total output of the bituminous coal mines. With electrification this would be reduced to 10 or 12 per cent. Freight congestion and car supply troubles would be solved. Coal so high in sulphur for safe storage could then be burned as produced, and the mines kept in continuous operation."

The Scientific American says that putting the railroads and industries of the east on an electrical basis would cost $1,240,800,000, but that its certain saving would be 24 per cent a year on the investment.

Railroad congestion and coal shortage now confront the nation. The solution is in burning coal at mines and in central power plants and sending the resultant electricity out over high tension wires.

And why is it not done? Because there is nobody to pay for the coal-burning equipment that would be scrapped. And because capital for the general electrification is hard to get.

If a bathing suit is comfortable on the beach, will some one please explain why the ladies don't wear them down town.

The tumult and the shouting dies;
the captains and the kings depart.
Still the Balkan war dog lies, waiting to make another start.

How fine it would be to find some remote summer resort where those who sell things to eat haven't learned to charge a dollar for a fried egg.

Uncle Sam will not long hold the world's supply of gold, with Cuba holding a near monopoly of booze and sugar.

The profiteer finds that blaming high prices on the cost of labor works just as well as blaming it on the war.

And now the sun never sets on British oil.

OF THE TWINS
by Olive Roberts Barton

OSCAR OWL'S DREAM

"Z-z-z-z-z" snored Oscar Owl so hard that the tassels on his night-cap shook like everything. "B-z-z-z-z" he went again like a saw-mill—one that hadn't seen an oil can since 1492. And oh, but he looked happy!

He was dreaming that little Munchie Mouse, who lived in the cellar and who took care of the garbage cans for everybody in Maple-Tree

Platz, had got onto the dumb-waiter cross at being disturbed, just when Munchie Mouse was about to pop down his throat! (In the dream.) Rat-a-tat-tat! knocked Tingaling again. "I've come for the rent. I'm the landlord!" "Who?" called Oscar. "Tingaling," answered the fairy, "the landlord I've come for your rent!" "Who-o?" called Oscar again, impatiently. "What's the matter, are you deaf?"

"Who-o?" called Oscar again impatiently. by mistake, and furthermore, he went on dreaming that the dumb-waiter had stopped at his own floor, and that when he opened the little trap door there sat Munchie all huddled up like a round ripe berry.

So no wonder he didn't hear Mr. Tingaling coming for the rent, nor Nancy and Nick. Of course fairies tread lightly, and, as for the little Green Shoes the twins wore, they were quieter than thoughts, being magical. They walked up the maple tree as easily as the rubber tires on your bicycle slide over the cement sidewalks.

Rat-tat-tat, rat-a-tat tat, knocked Tingaling, his bells jingling with the effort. Oscar waked suddenly then and blinked his sleepy eyes! He was roared Tingaling rattling the door-knob violently.

"No not deaf, but awfully mad," snapped Oscar, jerking the door open suddenly. "What's all this about rent?"

"I want it, that's all," answered Tingaling getting peevish himself. "Indeed!" said Oscar Owl. "Well—"

3.—Papules, vesicles, pustules, or exudation.
4.—Crusting and scaling.
5.—Infiltration, or thickening.
6.—Fissures or cracks.

1. ITCHING.—The most prominent and constant symptom in eczema is the itching, which may be preceded by or give place to a burning pain.
2. REDNESS FROM CONGESTION.—This is an essential element of the eruption, dependent upon the nature of the process; there is almost invariably an elevation of temperature in the part affected. This redness disappears momentarily on pressure; after it has continued some time a yellowish staining remains.

3. PAPULES, VESICLES, PUSTULES, OR EXUDATION.—Eczema being an inflammatory eruption of a catarrhal type, the exudation takes place in the upper portion of the skin. If the process goes no further, there is only redness, with thickening of tissue, and consequent scaling. After the diseased patch has been bereft of its normal epidermis, the fluid exudes directly from the surface, and forms the "watering," "weeping," or discharging feature belonging to certain phases of the eruption. In some cases this moist stage occurs almost immediately, the epidermis being shed in a mass.

4. CRUSTING AND SCALING.—The exudate of eczema, which stiffens and stains linen, has a very strong tendency to dry into crusts and scales. If a discharging surface is left exposed to the air, it soon becomes glazed over and dry, in place of being sticky; this coating increases from beneath, and forms scales or crusts of varying thickness.

5. INFILTRATION, OR THICKENING.—This symptom belongs principally to chronic eczema, but is seen more or less in every case; the skin then acquires a hard, leathery condition, and the increased thickness is recognized by comparing a fold of diseased integument with a corresponding portion of unaffected skin.

6. FISSURES, OR CRACKS.—Closely connected with and dependent upon the last symptom are the fissures, or cracks, which occur in localities where eczematous skin is called upon to stretch and bend, as on the knuckles and palms, behind the ears, and elsewhere.

If you believe you have eczema do not attempt to diagnose or treat the condition yourself, but be sure to place yourself under the care of an experienced physician, preferably one who specializes in diseases of the skin.

BY O. B. JOYFUL.

Picnics were first used by the Sandwich Islanders. The carefree Sandwichmen picknicked Capt. Cook's party. That broke up the first Cook's tour. It almost ended in cookery, so to speak. Those who were not cooked or sandwiched returned and established picknicking in Europe. Contrary to general belief Attila the Hun was not the first picnicker.

Our office boy favors picnics. "I always go to two," said he, "Milkman's and Orphans." We knew he wasn't a milkman. They have hard faces. "Are you an Orphan," asked us scornfully. "No; but I have three cousins who are," replied he smilingly.

No picnic is complete without a Goat. Cows may be substituted if no goats are handy. The goat enters in

The second act. (The act where Kitty finds the snake and thinks it bit her) and is driven away with sticks, also screams, also shrieks, also bricks. N. B.—The goat always consumes the very cake that Maw wanted Aunt Mary to try before giving her the receipt. (One egg, y' know.)

A learned jurist has said that marriages which resulted from picnic engagements are usually lasting. This is because if the loving couple are able to remain in each other's company an entire day under picnic conditions without cracking under the strain, neither will ever have courage enough to apply for divorce.

Picnics are always held near water in order that Willie may scare Maw by attempting to drown. In properly ordered picnics Maw always fills the oxfords she was intending to give to the Ladies Aid rummage sale with black muck while trying to rescue Willie, who doesn't want to be rescued.

We will draw the asbestos curtain on the concluding scenes, also the Epilogue wherein William receives what he has been promised all day. He receives it, you know, because he ate the ice cream that remained in the bottom of the freezer and was destined for Paw's lunch pail.

In conclusion—picnics are a national habit, sometimes thought to be a disease. Like the w. k. measles they are most prevalent in the young, but go hardest with the mature. They are a summer disease.

Chrys and Jordan Spence Have Some Differences on The Spirit World

Katherine Miller's wish that her child might inherit its father's portion of the Lorimer millions was interesting, of course, but the Lorimers did not require it for their guidance. When Chrys enthused about it as an admonition made by Benjie's spirit, she quite forgot that Mother Lorimer had already instructed our Lawyer-friend, Martin Palmer, to make out the proper papers for the settlement of a small sum of money on Baby Babs. Mother and Daddy had agreed about it months since. Now that these were some danger that Daddy might never come home Mother took the matter in hand.

Concerning Baby Babs she said: "Although its parents were not married, the child is of the Lorimer blood quite as much as any child of Bob's or Jim's or Chrys's can ever be." Mother had said this with her arm around me, as if she did not wish to hurt me, as if she hated to remind me that I had not supplied an heir for the Lorimer fortune. That fact came up every day of my life. Chrys referred to it more than once, and suggested that I look into the future, through the vision of some spirit control. I objected strenuously; in fact the family was getting pretty tired of the seance habit. We had so much ouija dementia in the family for the next few weeks that we rejoiced when Chrys announced that her agents had found at last a nice tight little yacht. It was in San Francisco harbor, and she and Katherine Miller would start west at once.

"Of course our Chrys has picked the finest thing of its class," Bob announced when he heard the name of the yacht. "The Blue Bird" was built for a western lumber king. She has made a dozen trips between San Francisco and Honolulu."

I have often wondered if Chrys realized that she was undertaking that voyage partly for the sake of concealing her heartache. Her affairs certainly moved pretty rapidly after she had had a certain lengthy interview with Jordan Spence. Of course no one can guess the details of that unhappy hour, but they must have been something pretty awful, I should say. At any rate, Jordan Spence, who is the most polite of men, fairly rushed from the house. He had to write Mother a little note the next day. And Chrys went straight to bed after that talk with her lover. She said that probably she had a touch of flu and she would like to be left entirely to herself, and the ministrations of her maid.

At the end of three days she came forth from her chamber looking like one risen from the dead. She never spoke of Jordan Spence and of course no one else dared to do so.

"If she insists on wrecking her happiness on her silly belief in spiritism nobody can save her," said Bob. "But I wish Spence had thrown her ouija board out of the window before he left."

"I've read of unhappy lovers who came to grief on account of their religious differences, but never, never before have I heard of a romance being shattered to bits for the sake of a few ghosts, more or less."

"Chrys is honest, at least," said her twin. "A lot of girls think a husband will stand for any kind of silly business after the wedding. They do not play fair. Some of them intend to sit down and wish their way thru life—which means that the husband has got to hustle some. But you can bet that the lazy kind never give away their system—until they have the man tied tight."

"Poor Chrys will certainly pay dearly for her honesty. Maybe a trip around the world will cure her heart-ache."

"Here's hoping. It sounds like a big adventure, of course, for two girls to cruise around just as two men would do. But the dangers dwindle—only don't tell Chrys so—the dangers shrink quite a little bit when you remember that we can keep in touch with Chrys by wireless most of the time. Thanks to modern science Chrys can't lose herself on the seven seas, you know. If she could, I'd certainly object to her little project for rescuing her father."

PLATFORM BODY WORKS LATE IN DRAFTING PACT

ing to authoritative statements provided:

"We recommend ratification of the treaty of Versailles and the League of Nations covenant without reservations which would impair its essential integrity."

The words added by Senator Walsh's amendment were:

"But we do not oppose reservations which make more clear or specific our obligations to the associated nations."

The substitute planks of Mr. Bryan and Senators Walsh and Pomerene went down to defeat. It was said, with but from 12 to 15 votes each.

Many Appeal to Convention

Chairman Carter Glass and other members refused to give out any information concerning any action by the committee but it was indicated that those dissatisfied with the treaty plank approved a minority report for appeal to the convention was under consideration. The labor plank adopted declared against compulsory arbitration but deplored strikes and lockouts and advocated that some peaceable way be found to settle industrial disputes.

The committee also put its approval on a declaration for legislation which would permit collective bargaining by farmers.

As reported by the sub-committee the League of Nations plank followed closely that adopted by the Virginia Democrats. Senator Walsh of Montana, submitted a minority report and led the fight against the Virginia proposal, which had the backing of President Wilson.

Much Bitter Feeling

In the debate which loosed a flood of bitter feeling, Senator Walsh was seconded by Mr. Bryan, Senator Walsh of Massachusetts and Senator Pomerene of Ohio, while the battle for the administration was led by Senator Glass of Virginia, the committee chairman. Senator Walsh's minority report provided for a plank pledging the nominee of the convention and Democratic senators to make such concessions as might be necessary to secure ratification of the treaty. All of those who supported it told the committee bluntly that hope of ratification without modification might as well be abandoned and that the wise course was to compromise.

Mr. Bryan and several others wanted modifications of the wording of the Walsh plank and as the discussion raged throughout the night the hopes of members that the question could be kept off the convention floor diminished.

Dodge Wet Plank

On the prohibition issue the sub-committee made no recommendation and the big gist of proposed wet and dry proposals were offered, with Mr. Bryan leading the drys in a determined crusade to keep the party from making a wet declaration or remaining silent on the prohibition issue.

The Irish plank submitted by the sub-committee reiterated in general terms, President Wilson's principles of self-determination, expressed sympathy for the aspirations of the Irish people and suggested that the Irish problem could be legitimately brought later before the League of Nations. That is unsatisfactory to some of the committee members who are making a fight pledging the party to recognize the Irish republic.

In his fight against the administration's League of Nations plank, Senator Walsh declared that although he had been for the treaty without reservations, a year of effort had demonstrated that such a ratification was impossible. In the coming campaign, he asserted the Democrats could not hope to gain enough senators to make up the necessary two-thirds and if the administration declaration was adopted the country might well ask what the Democrats possibly could hope to do to carry it out.

Mr. Bryan argued that the party should not go on record as opposing reservations to which a majority of the senators had agreed but should take the issue out of politics by declaring for an immediate ratification compromise.

In the treaty debate, Vice President Marshall was reported to have criticized the administration plank because it gave no information to the public regarding what reservations would fall within the class described as not impairing the covenant's "essential integrity". Mr. Marshall was said to have declared that he would rather go to the country with a plank for unqualified ratification than be asked to define destructive reservations.

Chairman Glass, Senator McKellar of Tennessee, and other administration chiefs strenuously opposed the Walsh amendments. The significance of its adoption was indicated by sharp assertions from the administration side that it would play into the hands of the Republicans, be regarded as a weakening of the Democratic position and be support for the position of Republican senators, led by Senator Lodge. Some administration spokesmen even declared, it was said, that it would work to defeat the party in November and Senator McKellar was declared to have denounced the Walsh amendment as "the doctrine of hell." Another administration member said it would appear as if the Democrats were "coming to terms" with the Republicans. Still another opponent of Senator Walsh's amendment said that its defeat was tantamount to defeating the Lodge reservations and that if the committee adopted the Walsh amendment it ought to put Senator Lodge in nomination here.

Has Delayed Peace

Senator Pomerene supported the Walsh amendment declaring that the treaty had delayed peace more than a year and that the honor of the nation and its participation in the league plan for world peace should require prompt ratification. He declared that the league is such an advanced and important step toward world peace that it would be disastrous to lose the great opportunity by disagreement over reservations.

Although Senator Walsh is said to have conceded that article X of the league covenant would be destroyed by the Lodge reservations, he and Senator Pomerene told the committee that most if not all other important features of the league plan still would remain.

Senator Pomerene incidentally declared he had no apologies to make for his vote for ratification with the Lodge proviso. The Democrats, Mr. Pomerene declared, could not justify a position killing the treaty. Both he and Senator Walsh made it clear that the administration plank plus the Walsh amendment did not go as far as they desired but would present a better issue to the country.

"Lose People's Respect"

An assertion by Senator Walsh that without his amendment the treaty would be lost and that with it the treaty's ratification would be assured was met by a statement by former Governor McCorkle of West Virginia that he was opposed to action for mere expediency.

"God help the Democratic party," Governor McCorkle exclaimed. "You will lose the respect of the American people."

During the debate Senator Glass and Mr. Bryan clashed over Mr. Bryan's published criticism of the sub-committee as a "secret" body. When Senator Glass objected to it Mr. Bryan replied that he would use it again or any other word he should choose.

TO ATTEND FUNERAL

John and Conrad Salzman went to Waterloo, Iowa, this morning, where they were called by the death of a nephew, Albert Messer. Mr. Messer passed away Friday. He was 30 years of age and is survived by his wife and two children. The funeral is being held today.

ORDER OF COMMERCE COMMISSION HURTS ROAD WORK IN ILL.

State Highway Department Struggling Against Adverse Effect

Springfield, Ill., July 1.—Struggling against the adverse effect of an order of the Interstate Commerce commission which may put a stop to twenty-five per cent of the road building of Illinois, the State Division of Highways, working the limit of its crippled capacity, has announced it still has hope of completing the season's program of 450 miles of federal road.

Fifty-seven road building gangs are at work now, according to Superintendent S. E. Bradt, completing fifteen miles of hard road each week, and there is prospect of raising this weekly total to twenty-five miles. But the prospects have been clouded. Use of coal cars, heretofore available for carrying road materials has been subject to radical curtailment. This shortage threatens to cripple the department seriously.

Second Car Embargo
From June 21 until July 21, the Interstate Commerce commission has ruled, no open top cars may be used for anything but coal, unless going in the direction of the coal mine. During this period, Superintendent Bradt says, fully one fourth of the work may be stopped. This is the second serious hindrance. The first came June 1, when a car service order cut the car supply for road material fifty per cent.

However, these orders, switchmen's strikes and high costs notwithstanding, Mr. Bradt is optimistic. Work is going ahead on fifty-seven sections of road. Fourteen sections are being worked on the National Old Trails road, which cuts across southern Illinois from St. Paul to Terre Haute, Ind.

Twelve Gangs at Work

Twelve gangs are at work on twelve sections of the Lincoln Highway which runs from Chicago by way of Geneva, DeKalb, Dixon and Sterling to Clinton, Ia. Twenty-three gangs are at work on the road from Chicago to St. Louis, which runs thru Joliet, Ottawa, LaSalle, Peoria, Springfield, and Carlinville. Six are at work on the Dixie trail from Chicago through Danville to Marshall, and two gangs are at work on the road from Chicago through Waukegan to the Wisconsin line.

Federal aid, by which the government provides half the money, is in back of all this work. None of the $60,000,000 worth of bonds, which were to build 4,800 miles of road in Illinois, has yet been touched. A total of 850 miles of roads and some bridge buildings, contemplated under the bond issue program, will be completed before any bonds are issued, Mr. Bradt said.

Of the 450 miles of road now under process of construction, only 50 miles was contracted for this season. Contracts for 600 miles was let last year, but only 200 miles were completed. This left the 400 miles for this year, and deferred until next spring the plan of the department to let contracts this year for 1,000 miles. That plan was necessarily annulled by the difficulties the department is now encountering.

PEOPLE'S COLUMN.

GERMAN CANVASSERS

Editor—Will you kindly permit me space in your valuable paper? A short time ago there was a man called and I met him at the door. He spoke very broken English with a German accent. He said he had some German papers and magazines that a party subscribed for on this street, and he was delivering.

I asked him: "Have you the name or number of his residence?" He made no reply.

I told him "We, as Americans, could get along nicely without German literature." He was angry at once. He put up the argument that Germany did not wish to go into the war but was forced into it by the Kaiser.

I told him they started it and we had to send our best boys over there and I was the mother of a wounded son. We had a heated argument before he left.

I called our chief's attention by telephone. He advised me there was no law whereby he could stop the canvasser, but I had the right to put him off my premises.

When the Service Star Legion of which I am a member was organized, we pledged we would not purchase any article that had the German stamp upon it. I think it time we wake up to the fact that these German canvassers are sent here as feelers and we should have some law whereby we could rid this grand country of our objectionable Germans that are sent here as spies. We will face one of the greatest revolutions this country has ever known.

For this purpose they use Puri-Fi because it is an ideal germ killer, disinfectant and deodorizer.

To safeguard the home and make it completely sanitary use Puri-Fi every day. Put one third of an ordinary teacup of Puri-Fi in the pail of cleaning water (equivalent to two teaspoonsful to a quart) for floors and walls, the dark corners, the garbage pail, sinks and drains; pour just a few drops of Puri-Fi itself into the closet bowl.
